Natural properties improve health

Take a leaf out of the medically-claimed Mediterranean book of health with a supplement that has its roots in ancient healing.

Since its launch in Australia more than 5 years ago, Olive Leaf Australia's fresh leaf extract has become a sought after natural health supplement. Users report benefits such as more energy, support for cardiovascular health and recovery from winter ailments.

Olive Leaf Australia's extract is a 100 per cent natural daily health supplement designed to support your body's natural defences with antioxidant, anti-inflammatory and antimicrobial effects. Antioxidants are substances that protect cells against the damage cause by free radicals-molecules produced during normal metabolism and when your body is exposed to poor diet, pollution, tobacco smoke or excessive sunlight.

Olive Leaf Australia's fresh leaf extract contains more than 30 times more antioxidants than extra virgin olive oils and has 400 per cent more antioxidant power than vitamin C. The supplement contains up to 100 naturally occurring compounds including oleuropein, which is the best known and most studied olive leaf antioxidant.

Some studies have shown that oleuropein may also have a role in promoting relaxation of the arterial walls and supporting improved circulation.

Olive trees have powerful defence systems that allow them to live for centuries surviving attack from viruses, fungus, bacteria and extremes of heat and cold.

Since ancient Egypt, olive leaves have been used for healing and modern scientific studies are continuing to show that the compounds in the leaves of the olive tree have the potential to enhance human health too.

Olive Leaf Australia's trees are grown near Brisbane, Queensland in a specialised olive grove of 550,000 trees. Because studies have shown that the health-giving compounds are more potent when olive leaves are fresh, Olive Leaf Australia's leaves are harvested at sunrise to ensure that only the best and freshest leaves are selected.

As well as meeting the strictest health regulations, the extraction, purification and storage processes make sure all the vital ingredients stay 'alive'.

Olive Leaf Australia's extract is available in 100mL, 200mL and 500mL sizes. It is also available in a 200mL Mixed Berry Children's formula and 90 capsule bottles.

Available in all health food stores and many pharmacies.
